About me

I came late to paint and developed a passion for watercolors only after a long career in finance and higher education. I had always developed an affinity for arts subjects. Music and visual arts have been shown to me by my family.

The third part of life is before me. What do I do with a lot of free time and less lifetime? I live in the now and always find new challenges without having to plan. Of course, the focus is on nature and objects.

I like to paint in my art gallery and be inspired by famous watercolorists. My works include cityscapes, still lifes and old cars.
